

BBQ BIRTHDAY CAKE

Tom Asbjornsen

Face it, a BBQ grill is also an oven. Add a thermometer, and one may control its temperature. In an effort to properly mark the occasion of Jessica's 18th birthday, I decided to bake a cake for her. The process is simple enuff, and since Richard had 2 pieces, it must have been edible.

Pick up a box of yellow cake mix, and 2 or 3 Granny Smith apples. Core, peel, and section the apples. Follow the directions on the box. Pour into your baking pan. Arrange apple slices in rows atop of the batter. Sprinkle a mix of sugar and cinnamon on top. (Don't ask me how much, enough will be just right).

Bake it. I used the BBQ grill. Any oven will do, don't forget the candle. - Tom A.
