Spanish Two Step

words: Tommy Duncan
music: Bob Wills 1946

Down by the Rio Grande, a senorita held my hand, and sweetly sang an old melody, without a worry or a care. A rose she gave me from her hair, and then she whispered, "Si-Senor, si, si". In a cabaret we danced the hours away, Her eyes told more than words e're could say. I told her I had to go, left her down in Mexico, while the band played "Spanish Two Step"
